

Pets in Hospital

Pets in Hospital is a new scheme that allows patients who are receiving care at Queen Elizabeth Hospital Birmingham to receive a visit from a dog.

For many people, the companionship of a four-legged friend has been a source of comfort throughout their life, and research has proven that patients can benefit from interacting with a dog whilst in hospital. Not only can the presence of a friendly and calm dog bring joy to a patient, it can aid interaction with staff and family members, and improve their wellbeing.

Your support will enable QEHB Charity to provide the assessment, training and equipment, including the distinctive dog coats, which are necessary for an owner and their dog to become a part of the Pets in Hospital team.

For just £7 a month, you can sponsor a dog to make trips around the hospital, visiting patients and brightening up their stay.
